HOOVER INSTITUTION APPOINTS NEW MEMBERS TO BOARD OF OVERSEERS

STANFORD -- The Hoover Institution on War Revolution and Peace at Stanford University announced the appointment of members to its Board of Overseers. The new members will serve three-year terms, said Martin Anderson, Chairman of the Board of Overseers, and John Raisian, Hoover Institution Director. The 81-member Board is responsible for overseeing the strategic direction and financial health of the Hoover Institution. The new members are:

- William B. Allen, dean, James Madison College, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan
- Peter B. Bedford, founder and president, Bedford Property Investors, Lafayette, California
- Mary K. Bush, president, Bush & Company, Washington, D.C.
- Edwin L. Cox, chairman and chief executive officer, Edwin L. Cox Company, Inc., Dallas, Texas
- David Davenport, president, Pepperdine University, Malibu, California
- Diana Denman, San Antonio, Texas and Santa Fe, New Mexico
- Jim H. Derryberry, managing director, J.P. Morgan &

- Jim H. Derryberry, managing director, J.P. Morgan & Company, New York
- Susanne Fitger Donnelly, trustee, Marlborough School, Los Angeles
- Richard Douglas, senior vice president, Sun Diamond Growers, Stockton, California
- Robert J. Feibusch, president, Feibusch & Company, Larkspur, California
- Franklin P. "Pitch" Johnson, Jr., founder and partner, Asset Management Company, Palo Alto, California
- Peyton Myers Lake, chairman of the board and president, Lake Ronel Oil, Tyler, Texas
- Richard Mallery, partner, Snell & Willmer, Phoenix, Arizona
- Jeremiah Milbank III, founder and partner, Milbank Winthrop & Company, Inc., New York
- Judith Runstad, chairman of the board, Federal Reserve Bank, San Francisco, and partner, Foster, Pepper & Shefelman, Seattle, Washington
- Jean Enerson Skinner, television news anchor, KING Broadcasting, Seattle, Washington
- Boyd C. Smith, partner, WSJ Properties, Palo Alto, California
- John Roland Stahr, senior partner, Latham & Watkins, Costa Mesa, California

- Frederick P. Stratton, chairman and chief executive officer, Briggs & Stratton Corporation, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
- Thomas J. Tierney, president and worldwide managing director, Bain & Company, Boston, Massachusetts
- David Traitel, chairman, Traitel Holding Corporation, City of Industry, California

Stanford University's Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace is a center for advanced study in domestic and international affairs. Founded by President Herbert Hoover, the Institution contains one of the largest private archives and most complete libraries in the world on economic, political, and social change in the 20th century. Affiliated with the Institution are three Nobel laureates, 16 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, six members of the American Philosophical Society, and numerous fellows who have served in leading policy-making positions in government. More than 100 scholars examine major issues in economics, political science, international relations, legal studies, education, and history, affecting public policy.