Citizens for Law and Order (CLO)
P.O. Box 1397
Sonoma, CA 95476
USA
Phone: (707) 938-3778
Fax: (707) 938-8962

Contact Person: Bob Nicholas, President.
Officers or Principals: Bob Nicholas, President; Lee Chancellor, Vice President; Harold Cloer, Secretary; Doris Huntting, Treasurer; Donald Baldwin, Eastern Director; Kathy Christiansen, Governmental Affairs.
Mission or Interest: CLO believes it is a prime duty of government to “vigorously protect citizens against violent crime” and “ensure that violent criminals are swiftly and effectively prosecuted, tried and punished.” They are currently focusing on reforming habeas corpus, the appeals process for death penalty cases. They want the procedure to be streamlined and faster.
Accomplishments: CLO played a key role in the campaign to unseat California Chief Justice Rose Bird in 1986 and two other Associate Justices from the California Supreme Court. Currently supporting the 10-20-Life initiative in California that would mandate an additional 10 years for using a gun while committing a felony, 20 years for pulling the trigger, and 25 years to life for shooting someone. Actively supported California’s “Victim’s Bill of Rights” in 1982 and the “Judicial Reform Act” in 1990. Their twenty-fifth anniversary luncheon featured former Attorney General Edwin P. Meese, III, as special guest speaker.
Products or Services: Lobbying, recommends or opposes judicial nominations and appointments, arranges for members to attend parole hearings, public information activities.
Tax Status: Nonprofit.
Board of Directors or Trustees: Collene Campbell, Harry Davis, Albert Del Masso, Jan De Yoe, Stan Hess, Robert Kress, Cris Mack, Mike Reynolds, Harriet Salerno, Fred Schieltz, Ronald Smith, M.D., James Tucker.
Periodicals: CLO News (bi-monthly newsletter).
Other Information: Established in 1970. They have an Eastern regional office: 7501 Essex Ave, Springfield, VA 22150, (703) 569-8574, fax (703) 569-2857, contact Jack or Trudy Collins. CLO has established an educational organization, the Judicial Reform Foundation, to study violent crime and propose measures that will “restore respect for authority and for life within our society.”

Citizens for a Sound Economy (CSE)
1250 H St., N.W., Suite 700
Washington, DC 20005
USA
Phone: (202) 783-1870
Fax: (202) 783-4687
E-Mail: cse@www.cse.org
Internet: http://www.cse.org/cse

Contact Person: Deborah Korte, Treasurer.
Officers or Principals: Paul Beckner, President ($41,535); Deborah Korte, Treasurer ($21,478); C. Boyden Gray, Chairman ($0); Dr. Wayne Gable, Secretary.
Mission or Interest: Dedicated to “our forefathers’ ideals of economic freedom and prosperity by working to inform and involve all citizens in the policy making process.”
Accomplishments: 250,000 members. In 1995 CSE claims to have: authored more than 130 policy papers; distributed almost 8 million pieces of mail; almost 50 different advertising campaigns reaching nearly every state; more than 175 radio and television appearances by CSE spokesmen; 235 published op-eds; and more than 42,000 calls from CSE members to their elected representatives. CSE was especially active in telecommunications deregulation. In 1994 CSE spent $5,998,720 on its programs.
Total Revenue: 1994 $6,628,118 47%(3) Total Expenses: $6,802,525 88%4d30/d9% Net Assets: $935,772
Products or Services: Lobbying, and two occasional research and legislative briefs, “Issue Analysis” and “Capitol Comment.”
Tax Status: 501(c)(4) Annual Report: Yes. Employees: 50 (includes both affiliates)
Citations: 248:34
Board of Directors or Trustees: Carl Holst-Knudsen, Sarah Jane Atkins, F. Kenneth Iverson, David Dewhurst, David Padden, Richard Stephenson, Dirk van Dongen, Gordon Cain, Deccy Gray, James Pope, James Miller, III.
Internships: Yes. Interns work on public policy, litigation, state projects, government relations, communications, fundraising, and membership development.
Other Information: Established in 1984. Affiliated with the 501(c)(3) Citizens for a Sound Economy Educational Foundation at the same address. In 1994 the two affiliates had combined net revenues of $10,014,547, net expenses of $9,543,753, and net assets of $7,738,297. Paul Beckner serves as president of both, and received combined compensation of $89,871. Treasurer Deborah Korte received a combined $51,389. Chairman C. Boyden Gray served as a counsel to Vice President, then President Bush in various capacities from 1981-93. CSE received $6,339,115, or 96% of revenue, from contributions and grants; $185,947, or 3%, from mailing list rentals. The remaining revenue came from interest on savings and temporary cash investments, publication sales, conference fees, and other miscellaneous sources.

Citizens for a Sound Economy Educational Foundation (CSE Foundation)
1250 H St., N.W., Suite 700
Washington, DC 20005
USA
Phone: (202) 783-3870
Fax: (202) 783-4687
E-Mail: cse@www.cse.org
Internet: http://www.cse.org/cse

Contact Person: Deborah Korte, Treasurer.
Officers or Principals: Paul Beckner, President ($48,336); Nancy Mitchell, Vice President, Policy Implementation ($50,329); Deborah Korte, Treasurer ($29,911); David H. Koch, Chairman. Dr. Wayne Gable, Secretary.
Mission or Interest: Research and education division of Citizens for a Sound Economy.

Accomplishments: The Foundation was active in advocating reform of the Food and Drug Administration "since 25 cents of every consumer dollar is touched by the FDA's regulatory apparatus." The Washington Post called the Foundation "one of FDA's strongest critics." The Foundation commissioned a poll of 500 executives whose businesses are regulated by the FDA and found that "the poll results more than proved that the fear of retaliation by the FDA affected decisions made by the regulated firms." In 1994 the Foundation spent $2,041,246 on its programs.

Total Revenue: 1994 $3,386,429 23%(3) Total Expenses: $2,741,228 74%/15%/11% Net Assets: $1,802,185

Products or Services: The Foundation runs training programs for congressional staff on economic and policy matters. Awards the "Jefferson Award" for Congressional lawmakers who "vote in favor of market-based economic policies 80 percent or more of the time." Lobbying: In 1995 the Foundation spent $6,274 on grassroots lobbying.

Board of Directors or Trustees: Sarah Atkins, Dr. Richard Fink (Koch Industries), Dr. Robert Tollison (George Mason Univ.), Dr. Walter Williams (George Mason Univ.).

Internships: Yes.

Other Information: Established in 1984. Affiliated with the 501(c)(4) Citizens for a Sound Economy at the same address. In 1994 the two affiliates had combined net revenues of $10,014,547, net expenses of $9,543,753, and net assets of $7,738,297. Paul Beckner serves as president of both, and received combined compensation of $89,871. Treasurer Deborah Korte received a combined $51,389. Chairman David H. Koch is the president of Koch Engineering and the David H. Koch Charitable Foundation, and was the 1980 Libertarian Vice Presidential candidate. The Foundation received $3,217,394, or 95% of revenue, from contributions and grants awarded by foundations, businesses, and individuals. (These grants included $150,000 from the Sarah Scaife Foundation, $60,000 from the Gordon and Mary Cain Foundation, $17,500 from the F.M. Kirby Foundation, and $200 from the United Educators Foundation. In 1995, $600,000 from the David H. Koch Charitable Foundation, $300,000 from the Claude R. Lambe Charitable Foundation, $100,000 from the Scisl Foundation, $35,000 from the John M. Olin Foundation, $35,000 from the John William Pope Foundation, $24,484 from the Charles G. Koch Charitable Foundation, and $10,000 from the Philip M. McKenna Foundation, and $1,000 from the Roe Foundation.) $94,614, or 3%, from mailing list rentals. $73,150, or 2%, from interest on savings and temporary cash investments. The remaining revenue came from the sale of publications.